

The blue line is the axis of a glide reflection. The pink S-shapes are the centers of two easily-overlooked half-turns. The yellow/brown triangle (including the black part of its boundary) is a fundamental domain.